

NATIONAL SQUASH TENNIS

CHICAGO AND BROOKLYN OUT OF CHAMPIONSHIP

Prattis quit after 5-0 successive games for this afternoon's final. Irving and Stillman also survive. Play in Harvard Club Courts.

Entrants from Chicago, Brooklyn, Princeton and Montreal, not to speak of diverse players, were eliminated yesterday from the Harvard Club courts from the initial championship of the newly organized National Squash Tennis Association. Two matches remain for to-day, at 10 A. M. and 1 P. M. The first of the Harvard club will meet Alfred Stillman 2d, titleholder, in the Harvard Club, and at 5 P. M. the winner will meet J. W. Prattis, Harvard Club, in the Harvard Club.

Matches were run off in the two courts and after church parade the galleries filled with a large attendance of onlookers. The play was all good and often brilliant by both winners and losers. America's most recent championship game is a trying one for the players, excited and accurate winners of the contestants, and squash tennis as played by the experts is as interesting to watch as its big brothers, racquetball or court tennis. To many of the onlookers it was a new experience and they were glad they came.

They knew squash in its older form, with a soft ball and a lawn tennis racquet or a hard rubber ball with a hard rubber racket, and when the strikers count an ace in taking the ball from the server. The former game is still played at the New York Racquet and Tennis Club and lately Prattis was the club champion there. In racquetball rules cover squash tennis, but it is made a faster and more complete game by using a hollow rubber ball wrapped in a netting and a special racquet, smaller but of the shape of a lawn tennis racquet. The ball is thicker and strung more tightly and the grips are of leather instead of plain wood. The ball is of two sizes, one regulation lawn tennis size or one somewhat smaller, which is preferred for speed.

The netting aids the racquet in putting spin on the stroke and controlling the angle of the ball. In a complete court, such as at the Harvard Club, the court is a hard wood court, but they are perfect in a hard wood court, as at the Harvard Club. The server does not have the advantage to such a degree as at racquetball, for the court is only one-half as long and the aces are mainly by placing or on opponent's misses. A drop spin service seemed the most effective, and if not volleyed the return was often by a full arm stroke just back of the ball on a high bound could reach the back wall.

All the players were clever in taking the ball from the back wall, and they used forehand and backhand strokes with equal effectiveness. "Squash tennis is the best of the racket games," remarked J. W. Prattis, before his Harvard day. "New York's first international golf champion, who had a fine head, was round to H. Davis," but it does not seem to follow that a racquet player can play squash tennis.

Prattis had a strenuous day of it. C. G. Osborne, Chicago University Club, was his opponent in the first game, which he won by 15-5. The Chicagoan set a faster pace in the second game, while Prattis, who had a fine head, was round to H. Davis, but it does not seem to follow that a racquet player can play squash tennis.

Prattis won the match by 15-5. In the fourth round Prattis beat Satterlee in a close game, and then he won the final game by 15-5. He was the winner of the championship.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING.

Pennant A. C. Contest Declared "No Race" Putnam A. C. Open Run.

The open run of the Pennant A. C., which was billed to close the season yesterday, wound up in an unsatisfactory manner for the Pennant A. C. The race was declared "no race" by the official handicapper of the Metropolitan Association. It appears that a long string of officials who had promised to act did not turn up, and at the last moment Ober-berger and Andrew Tully, treasurer of the Metropolitan Association, jumped into the breach and began to get the eighty-two starters ready. They had checked the runners up stairs and sent them down stairs into the clubhouse to be ready to be sent out at the start. When the runners reached the ground floor, instead of waiting for the word to go, they dashed out the door and away. When it came to the back markers and scratch men they suffered from a stam-pling and in mad confusion tore away after the others. Jack Richmond of the Pennant A. C. was the individual winner, and his club was placed first for the team prize. J. Schroeder of the Morningside A. C. earned the fastest time prize. There was more confusion at the finish and there was nothing but to declare the event "no race." Very likely it will have to be run over again.

An invitation run of the Putnam A. C. attracted a pack of fifty-two runners, and the contest was one of the keenest seen in the Brooklyn district this season. The pack forty covered the course of 3.7 miles in good condition, the remainder coming in as they pleased. The feature of the race was the fine display made by M. Foster of the home club. He was in the van from start to finish and won comfortably by fifty yards from the second man, who happened to be C. Maxwell of the Good Counsel A. C. Maxwell ran a very fine race. From a backward position at the beginning he gradually worked his way to the front and well earned the second prize, which was a hot scramble for the team prize, which the Putnam club by a good margin.

The runners of the Putnam A. C. were: M. Foster, Putnam A. C., 21:00; C. Maxwell, Putnam A. C., 21:10; J. Schroeder, Morningside A. C., 21:15; J. Richmond, Pennant A. C., 21:20; J.
